

CAPRICORN: I USE

Logos – The Power of My Word

From the onset of the Pandemic, your planet, Saturn, also known as the Lord Karma, was teaching you powerful lessons about your talent, self-worth, and values. You had to learn the hard way how to take your talents and gifts and monetize them while being authentic to your values and creeds.

It was not easy, since your insecurities were surfacing and you needed to be ultra-practical in finding ways to overcome them. The same lessons are continuing in the first two months of the year. You will have to submit your “thesis” on the influence of Saturn on your talents, abilities, and income. You will have to answer questions such as: what do you believe in? What is your worth? What do you want to bequeath humanity?

From March 7, Saturn is moving into Pisces and for three years will be transiting in your house of marketing, writing, relatives, neighbours, and communications. You will be asked to take all that you have learned about yourself since 2020 and share it with the world by marketing your talents, communicating your gifts, and using your skills to connect and be connected to manifest your potential. In the next three years you will find yourself becoming a hub, a junction, a crossroad. In order for you to empower yourself, you need to look for these junctions, these connections, and allow yourself to challenge your mind and learn new languages, new ways to conduct your business, and sign new contracts.

These contracts could be in the shape of commitments, pledges you are willing to sign and follow to a tee. You are creating an infrastructure of communication, roads and railroads that can take you to the next level. One good aspect of Saturn in the house of communication is that he is easier to handle and not as challenging, so the next three years you could glide through life with less resistance and heavy lessons.

However, you might experience some challenges with your roommates, relatives, and neighbours, or they themselves might have a hard time, forcing you to stop what you are focused on and lend a hand. But to cap your Capricorn lessons for 2023: learn how to speak your mind, share your gifts, and promote your talents in a way we can understand and accept.

While Saturn leaves your house of money and talents in March, Pluto, the Lord of Transformation, is replacing him. This means a deep and long-term transformation with your finances is taking place, allowing latent talents to be exploited and developed. You are also encouraged to make a change in your value system. If you have issues with materialism and or possessiveness, Pluto will ask you to look into it and make changes. In other words, Pluto wants you to be a better person.

The North Node, or the Dragon, will be transiting in the first part of the year in the house of love and happiness. It started in the end of 2021 and continues until July this year. The Dragon presents abundant opportunities for romance, finding your inner child, being creative, and connecting to sports and hobbies. From July, the Dragon enters your house of home and family which means a great time to relocate, buy a property, or become a parent.

The Dragon presents a wonderful time to heal relationships with family members until the end of 2024. Other good news comes from Jupiter. In the first five and a half months the king of the gods will be in your house of home, helping you connect to your feelings, compassion, empathy and in general, good vibes with your home and family. From mid-May, Jupiter enters your house of love and can connect you to romance, happiness, and creativity.

A great time to have a kid! Your New Moon: Alas, dear Capricorn, this year you don't have any New Moon. Aries stole it from you since we will have two New Moons in Aries and none in Capricorn. Maybe he is getting back at you for snatching Jesus' birthday from his sign to yours? But no worries, next year you will have one on January 11.

Your Full Moon: Once a year, you also have a Full Moon in your sign. This period represents a great time to reflect, rest on your laurels, and bring something in your life to an end or completion. July 3 is your Full Moon. This is a good time to end something in your relationships, home, or career.

Integration: In 2023, you are asked to first find love for yourself, your talents, and gifts and then find the way to market, communicate and share it with the world. This year also presents a possibility to fall in love either with a person, or a hobby, a sport, or a project.

January

The year kicks off with a cluster of planets in your sign: the Sun (self-expression), Mercury (communication), Venus (love, finances), and Pluto (transformation). All these heavenly bodies are in your house of body, identity, image, and leadership. We are expecting you to be our alarm clock and get us into shape after the holiday season and New Year's celebrations. January 1 – 3 offers a wonderful assortment of planets in earth signs and that is great news for you goat-mountain people, a wonderful way to start the year.

However, remember, we have Mercury retrograde in your sign until January 20, so best to be super careful and not be tempted to start new projects or sign any documents until the last part of the month. In addition, Venus and Pluto are conjunct and can cause some havoc with your primary relationships, especially with people you have known for a long time or people who are older than you. Since it is happening in your house of self-awareness, the conjunction can help unearth the artist or diplomat in you.

On January 3 Venus escapes Pluto's grip and moves into Aquarius and for the next few weeks, she will be in your house of money, talents, and self-worth. This is wonderful for your finances since she is the ruler of money and can help you tap into new talents and sources of income. Friends, colleagues, and acquaintances can be instrumental in linking you to your talents and provide financial opportunities.

On January 9 the Black Moon moves into Leo and in the next nine months she will be in your house of sexuality, death, and transformation. Watch your partner's finances. In addition, there could also be issues with taxes, insurance claims, and moments when you will be asked to deal with jealousy and possessiveness, either yours or others. Be aware that in the next 9 months you might be tempted by the wrong sexual partners and maybe someone could betray your intimacy or devolve a secret.

The image features a white central area containing text, framed by blue watercolor washes at the top and bottom. The top wash is a solid, slightly textured blue. The bottom wash is more dynamic, with darker blue and purple tones, suggesting a mountain range or abstract landscape. The edges of the white area are irregular, as if torn paper.

However, remember, we have Mercury retrograde in your sign until January 20, so best to be super careful and not be tempted to start new projects or sign any documents until the last part of the month. In addition, Venus and Pluto are conjunct and can cause some havoc with your primary relationships, especially with people you have known for a long time or people who are older than you. Since it is happening in your house of self-awareness, the conjunction can help unearth the artist or diplomat in you.