

LEO: I WILL

My Passion and Transformation

Your pride of lions and lionesses had a hard time with your partnerships, relationships, and significant others since the onset of the pandemic in 2020. Saturn, the Lord karma, was in your house of relationships, which is also dubbed the house of legal affairs and open enemies. That was not easy on you as you are the sign of love and happiness and as long as Saturn is transiting in your opposite sign, Aquarius, you can feel the Lord Karma staring at your face, creating obstacles and hardships.

This continues in the first two months of the year so you will have apt time to resolve the final issues you might have with any partners in work and life. From March 7 you will have to follow Saturn into the Underworld, the house of death and transformation, where he will help you burn karma through letting go and transforming yourself. It sounds worse than it is, but the visit to the house of magic, sexuality, passion, and investigation would demand that you let go of your sunny disposition and get deep, real deep, into liminal realms of the occult.

From March 7 Saturn is helping you rewrite your Book of Death, and examine how you deal with letting go, saying goodbye, and separation. You will have to confront the Lord Shiva, the remover of obstacles, and cut away from whatever prevented you in the last 30 years from reaching your goals. Last time Saturn was in this house was 1993 – 1996, so please harken back to those years and see what you were asked to “kill” in order to resurrect, like Aslan, the lion in the Chronicles of Narnia.

Saturn in Pisces is already mystical, and he will transit in the dark forest, where everything is possible. You will learn how to connect to your passion, intimacy, and discover what you are attracting as well as what you are attracted to. The more you connect to your true passions, the easier it will be to learn from Saturn. Saturn will also ask you to focus on other people's talents and money and perhaps connect you to productions and joint artistic and financial affairs. There could also be some dispute over inheritance.

From March 24, Pluto, the Lord of death and sexuality, leaves your house of work and health where he was helping you go through a deep transformation since 2008 and move into your house of relationships, yes, the same house Saturn just left. Hopefully since you had Saturn there for so long, he cleaned the slate and Pluto won't have that much to transform but if you need a resurrection and alteration in your partners in life or work, Pluto will be happy to provide it until January 2044.

As for Jupiter, the giver of gifts, from the end of 2022 he is blessing your house of travel, mass media, education, and truth. He can also help your relationships with in-laws and foreigners. Until mid-May, Jupiter blesses you with travel and connections to wisdom and knowledge.

Afterward, Jupiter enters your house of career for a year and bingo, things can start moving in your professional life. Your status in your community can grow and you can improve relationship with people of power as well as bosses or figures of authority. Since Uranus and the North Node are also in your career this year, you have a great deal of awakening in your chosen vocation. Especially around May it can be intense with your professional life.

The eclipses in the first part of the year continue to pit home versus career as they did throughout 2022. You felt crucified at times. But from July the eclipses are shifting into Aries and Libra, far friendlier signs for you. You will be asked to focus on teaching, travel, and finding your truth and philosophy.

As for Venus, the goddess of love, which you so much adore, she will be in your sign for months this year starting in July until the beginning of October. So yes, love can be in air, but the reason she stays so long in your domain is because she is retrograding, so take extra heed from being hedonistic and over generous between July 22 to September 5.
